II Mid-Term Examination

Odd Semester, 2018-19

Programme: B-Tech Branch: CSE Year: II

Subject with Code: Operating Systems, BCSC 0004

Time: 1 Hour Maximum Marks: 15

Note: Attempt All the Questions

Section – A 3 x 2 = 6 Marks

I. Differentiate between concurrent execution and parallel execution of processes. Draw the precedence graph for the given code:

```
begin S0;        //Statement
Parbegin
S1;        //Statement
begin S2;        //Statement
Parbegin
S3;        //Statement
S4;        //Statement
Parend
S5;        //Statement
End
S6;        //Statement
Parend
S7;        //Statement
End
```

II. Explain various Inter Process Communication models with example.

III. What is the meaning of term busy waiting? Consider a non-negative counting semaphore S. The operation P(S) decrements S, and V(S) increments S. During an execution, 20 P(S) operations and 12 V(S) operations are issued in some order. What can be the largest initial value of S for which at least one P(S) operation will remain blocked?

Section – B

3 x 3 = 9 Marks

I. Consider a system with seven processes A through G and six resources R through W. There is only one instance of each resource type. Resource ownership is as follows: process A holds R and wants T, process B holds nothing but wants T, process C holds nothing but wants S, process D holds U and wants S & T, process E holds T and wants V, process F holds W and wants S, process G holds V and wants U. Construct wait for graph for the given resource allocation scheme. Find out whether the system is deadlocked? If yes, name the processes that are deadlocked.

II. The statement while (flag[1] and turn == 1) of process P0 in Peterson's algorithm is changed to while (flag[1] or turn == 1), and analogous changes are made in process P1. Which properties of critical section implementation are violated by the resulting system?

III. Consider the following snapshot of a system for Banker's Algorithm having 4 processes P0 to P3 and 3 resources A, B, C.

	Allocation			Maximum			Available
	A	B	C	A	B	C	A	B	C
P0	1	0	1	4	3	1	3	3	0
P1	1	1	2	2	1	4
P2	1	0	3	1	3	3
P3	2	0	0	5	4	1

A. Find out the Need matrix for the given above information.

B. Is the system safe? If yes, find out the safe sequence.

II Mid-Term Examination
Odd Semester, 2018-19
B.Tech, III Sem, CSE/ MCA, I Sem
Subject: Computer Organization (BCSC0005 / MCAC0003)
Time: 1 Hour Maximum Marks: 15

Section – A 3X2= 6 marks

Note: All questions are compulsory

1. Write a program to evaluate the arithmetic statement:

$$X= A * B + A (B*D+C*F)$$

   a. Using general register type computer with three address instructions.

   b. Using stack based computer with zero address instructions.

2. The memory unit of computer has 256K words of 32 bits each. The computer has an instruction format with four fields: an operation code, a mode field to specify one of seven addressing modes, a register address field to specify one of 60 processor registers and a memory address. Specify instruction format and the number of bits in each field if the instruction is one memory word.

3. A nonpipeline system takes 50ns to process a task. The same task can be processed in a 6 segment pipeline with a clock cycle of 10ns. Determine the speedup ratio of pipeline for 100 tasks. What is the maximum speed up that can be achieved.

Section – B 3X3= 9 marks

Note: All questions are compulsory

1. Write the sequence of control steps required for single bus organization for each of the following:

   a. Add the number num (immediate) to register R1.

   b. Add the content of memory location num to register R1.

2. What is the necessity of grouping control signals? Briefly explain two techniques used for grouping of control signals.

3. A computer has 16 registers, an ALU with 32 operations and a shifter with eight operations, all connected to common bus system.

   a. Formulate, a control word for a micro-operation.

   b. Specify the number of bits in each field of the control word and give a general encoding scheme.

   c. Show the bits of the control word that specify the micro-operation.

Printed Pages: 02 University Roll No. :- _____

Second Mid Term Examination: 2018 – 19
B. Tech. II Year III Semester
Engineering Mathematics III (BMAS 0103)

Time: 1 Hr. Note: Attempt ALL sections. Total Marks: 15

SECTION A (2 x 3 = 6 marks)

Instructions: This section has 3 questions. Attempt ALL questions. The symbols have their usual meanings.

Q.1. Find Laplace transforms of

(a) $F(t) = \int_0^t e^{t-u} du$

(b) $F(t) = e^{-4t} u(t-5)$

Q.2. Find the Laplace transform of $\frac{e^{-2t} - e^{-3t}}{t}$.

Q.3. Find inverse Laplace transform of $$F(p) = \frac{p^2 + 2p - 3}{p(p-3)(p+2)}.$$

SECTION B (3 x 3 = 9 marks)

Instructions: This section has 3 questions. Attempt ALL questions. The symbols have their usual meanings.

Q.1. Solve the following differential equation using Laplace transform:

$$\frac{d^3x}{dt^3} + \frac{dx}{dt} = 2,$$ with initial conditions, $x(0) = 3, x'(0) = 1, x''(0) = -2$

Q.2. Evaluate: $L^{-1}\left(\frac{\log_e(p^2+4p+5)}{(p^2+2p+5)}\right)]$

Q.3. Find L [F (t)] where F (t) is a periodic function given by:

$$F(t) = \begin{cases} 1, & 0 \le t < 2 \\ -1, & 2 \le t < 4 \end{cases}$$

It is given that, F (t + 4) = F (t)

B.Tech IInd year CS
II Mid Term. odd Sem.
2018-19

Mid Term Examination, 2018-19
Course: B.Tech. (CSE/CCV/DA) Year: II Semester: III Object Oriented Programming (BCSC0002)

Uni. Roll No: .....

Time: 1 Hr. Total Marks: 15

Section A

I. Predict the output of the following program.

```
class A{ static{ System.out.println("X");
}
A(){ System.out.println("Y");
}}
class X{ public static void main(String args[]){
A obj=new A();
}}
```

II. Predict the output of the following program.

```
class X{
public static void main(String args[]){
String s1= "Exam";
String s2= "Exam"; System.out.println("s1==s2 is "+ (s1==s2));
System.out.println("s1.equals(s2) is "+ (s1.equals(s2)));
}}
```

III. Predict the output of the following program.

```
class X{
public static void main(String args[]){
String s= "java";
String t= "python";
System.out.print(s.compareTo(t));
}}
```

IV. Predict the output of the following program.

```
class B{ public static void main(String args[]){
String a= "hello";
a=(a.charAt(0)-32) +
a.substring(1);
System.out.println(a);
}}
```

V. Predict the output of the following program.

```
class T {
 int t = 20;
 T() {
  t = 40;
 }}
class Main { public static void main(String
args[]) {
   T t1 = new T();
   System.out.println(t1.t);
 }
}
```

VI. Predict the output of the following program.

```
class Test { int i;} class Main { public static void main(String args[]) {
   Test t=new Test();
   System.out.println(t.i);
}}
```

VII. How many constructors are there in classes A and B?

```
class A{
A () {}
}
class B {
int x;
void display (){
System.out.println(x);
}}
```

VIII. A file named exam.java is as follows:

```
public class A { }
```

Will it compile? Give reason.

IX. A file named A.java has two independent public classes A and B. There is no main () method in either of the classes. What will happen on compilation? Give reason.

X. Find the error in the following code:

```
class A{ private int a,b;
public void display(){
System.out.println(a + " " + b);
}
class B{ public static void main(String args[]){
A obj=new A(); obj.a=10;
obj.b=20;
obj.display();
}}
```

XI. A String literal cannot be modified because the String class is _____.

XII. The memory of all the null-referenced objects is released by JVM from time to time. This process is known as _____.

XIII. A class can inherit another class by using _____ keyword.

XIV. For method _____, the signatures of the methods must be different.

XV. For method _____, the signatures of the methods must be same.

XVI. The split() method in String class returns _____.

XVII. All classes inherit from _____ class either directly or indirectly.

XVIII. Fill in the blank to initialize the state of the object with the value passed in the constructor:

```
class A{ int a;
A(int a){
_____;
}
}
```

XIX. Fill in the blanks to find the reverse of a string:

```
class ReverseString{ public static void main(String args[]){
String s="Examination"; String rs=_____;
for(int i=s.length()-1; i>=0; i--)
        _____;
System.out.println("Reverse String:" + rs);
}}
```

XX. Categorize the type of each variable in the following class:

```
class Family{ String fName; static String lName;
void displayFullName(){ String full=fName + lName; System.out.println(full);
}}
```

Section B

I. How many objects are created if the following code is executed?

```
String a=new String ("Exam");
String b=new String ("Exam");
```

II. How can you call sqrt() method without preceding it with its class name, Math?

III. Explain in brief the meaning of each word in the statement:

```
System.out.println("Exam");
```

IV. Declare an array of String that can store at most 10 elements.

V. Write code that creates an object of class A defined as follows:

```
class A{
int a;
A(int value){
a=value;
}}
```

Section C

I. Create a class Comp such that the following code shall execute successfully:

Output required:

```
50 20 class Execute{ public static void main(String args[]){
int result= Comp.product(5,10); System.out.println(result);
result= Comp.product(10,2)
System.out.println(result);
}}
```

II. State TRUE or FALSE. Give reason, if false.

a. In Java, a constructor can have any name.

b. In Java, String is an array of characters.

III. Rewrite the following code after removing the error:

```
class Point {
  inta,b;
  Point(int x, int y) { a= x;
     b = y; }
public static void main(String args[]) {
   Point p = new Point();
 }}
```

IV. Consider three classes A, B and C as follows. State which methods are accessible by an object of class C declared in another class.

```
class A{ public void method1(){ System.out.println("In method1");
}
}//End of class A class B extends A{ private void method2(){ System.out.println("In
method2");
}
void method3(){ System.out.println("In method3");
}
protected void method4(){ System.out.println("In method4");
}
}//End of class B class C extends B{
private void method5{ System.out.println("In method5");
}
void method6(){ System.out.println("In method6");
}
}//End of class C
```

V. Give two input-output pairs for the following program:

```
import java.util.*;
class X{
public static void main (String
args[]){
Scanner sc=new Scanner(System.in);
String s=sc.nextLine();
String a[]=s.split("@");
System.out.println(a.length);
}}
```

SET-B University Roll No. _____

Term II Examination, 2018-19
B. Tech. II Year (Odd Semester)

Subject: English for Professional Purposes–I Subject Code: BELH 0003
Time: 60 Minutes Max. Marks: 15

Note: i. It's mandatory to Cleary mention your set no in answer sheet.
ii. Write only the options (such as A, B, C etc.) in the answer sheet while answering Verbal Aptitude questions.

PART A - ORAL SKILLS TIME: 30 MINUTES

Section- A 0.5x4 = 2 Marks

Note: Attempt all the questions.

1. Name any two methods of paragraph writing.
2. What are two of the important aspects to look into while analyzing locale.
3. Visual aids may not make audience more interested in your presentation.
True/False
4. The 'central idea' of the presentation doesn't include all supporting details.
True/False

Section- B 1.5x2 = 3 Marks

Note: Attempt any two questions. (Word limit 60 words)

5. Arguing for demonetization write your arguments as you would like to present in a GD.
6. Describe GLA University using spatial method of paragraph writing.
7. Discus the role of cheap internet in ease of access to information in terms of gathering relevant material for presentation.

Section- C 2.5x1 = 2.5 Marks

Note: Attempt any one question. (Word limit 125 words)

8. Justify with examples how outlining method is better than the other two methods of delivery.
9. Write any three don'ts of GD and illustrate their role in presenting your negative image in a GD.

PART B- VERBAL APTITUDE TIME: 30 MINUTES

Note: Attempt all the questions. Each question carries 0.25 marks.

Fill in the blanks with correct option (1-10).

1. Although the police _____ every precaution, the robber managed to escape.
A. take B. takes
C. has taken D. had taken
E. None of the above

2. The boys _____ television every night unless they have homework.
A. watch B. watches
C. watched D. watching
E. None of the above

3. Maria _____ an appointment to see the doctor. It is at 10.00 am tomorrow.
A. make B. makes
C. made D. has made
E. None of the above

4. They _____ when they are ready.
A. come B. came
C. will come D. have come
E. None of the above

5. Judy _____ watching horror films although she has nightmares afterwards.
A. like B. likes
C. liked D. will like
E. None of the above

6. It _____ every afternoon for the past week. The weather forecast predicts rain for next week too.
A. is raining B. had been raining
C. has been raining D. was raining
E. None of the above

7. I _____ the door before I realized that the keys were inside the house.
A. lock B. locked
C. has locked D. had locked
E. None of the above

8. When Sally _____ her first pay, she bought presents for her parents.
A. receive B. received
C. has received D. had received
E. None of the above

9. It's lovely to wake up in the morning and _____ birds singing.
A. hear B. hears
C. heard D. hearing
E. None of the above

10. Arun_____ $80.00 for the bag.
A. pay B. paid
C. pays D. paying
E. None of the above

Identify the correct choice for the underlined part (11-20):

11. Shortly after taking over as interim CBI Director, M. Nageshwar Rao issued orders transferring or giving additional charge to 13 officials in the agency.
A. Adverb clause
B. Noun clause
C. Independent clause
D. Adverb phrase
E. Noun Phrase

12. The novelist who has been bestseller twice is caught into a controversy.
A. Adjective clause
B. Noun clause
C. Independent clause
D. Adverb clause
E. Noun Phrase

13. My friend from USA is not certain about her visit to India as she has heard a lot of stories about India.
A. Compound sentence
B. Complex sentence
C. Independent clause
D. Adverb clause
E. None of these

14. India has learnt and taught English at least since 1789 and has done it very well.
A. Adverb clause
B. Noun clause
C. Independent clause
D. Adverb phrase
E. Noun Phrase

15. Shortly after taking over as interim CBI Director, M. Nageshwar Rao issued orders transferring or giving additional charge to 13 officials in the agency.
A. Compound sentence
B. Complex sentence
C. Independent clause
D. Adverb clause
E. None of these

16. An immensely talented Youngman from India joins a US based firm because of no opportunity in India.

A. Adverb clause
B. Dependent clause
C. Independent clause
D. Adverb phrase
E. Adjective Phrase

17. My roommate found a wallet outside my room.
A. Adverb clause
B. Dependent clause
C. Independent clause
D. Adverb phrase
E. Adjective Phrase

18. Engineering is all about finding solution to the problems.
A. Adverb clause
B. Dependent clause
C. Independent clause
D. Adverb phrase
E. Noun Phrase

19. Convinced that they were trying to poison him, he refused to eat anything.
A. Adverb clause
B. Adjective clause
C. Independent clause
D. Noun clause
E. Noun Phrase

20. I am highly uncertain whether I would cherish your companionship.
A. Adverb phrase & verb phrase
B. Adjective clause & adverb phrase
C. Adjective phrase & verb phrase
D. Adverb phrase & verb clause
E. Adverb clause & verb clause

Transform the given sentences (21-25) as instructed in italics:

21. Change into complex sentence:
The #metoo movement has failed to bring out any horrific stories from political domain.

22. Change into simple sentence:
Virat was furious when Dhoni dropped a simple catch.

23. Change into compound sentence:
SC's verdict on Sabarimala has received a mixed response from people in general.

24. Change into active:
The courier was received by the maid servant as Sharmas were out of station.

25. Change into passive:
My supervisor advised me to stop flirting with the idea of changing my presentation topic.

Note: Read the given passage and answer questions (26-30) based on it.

The Allendale Cultural Centre has expanded its arts program to include classes for young adults. Director Leah Martin announced Monday that beginning in September, three new classes will be offered to the Allendale community. The course titles will be Yoga for Teenagers; Hip-Hop Dance: Learning the Latest Moves; and Creative Journaling for Teens: Discovering the Writer Within. The latter course will not be held at the Allendale Cultural Centre but instead will meet at the Allendale Public Library.

Staff member Tricia Cousins will teach the yoga and hip-hop classes. Ms. Cousins is an accomplished choreographer as well as an experienced dance educator. She has an MA in dance education from Teachers College, Columbia University, where she wrote a thesis on the pedagogical effectiveness of dance education. The journaling class will be taught by Betsy Milford. Ms. Milford is the head librarian at the Allendale Public Library as well as a columnist for the professional journal Library Focus.

The courses are part of the Allendale Cultural Centre's Project Teen, which was initiated by Leah Martin, director of the Cultural Centre. According to Martin, this project is a direct result of her efforts to make the centre a more integral part of the Allendale community. Over the last several years, the number of people who have visited the cultural centre for classes or events has steadily declined. Project Teen is primarily funded by a munificent grant from The McGee Arts Foundation, an organization devoted to bringing arts programs to young adults. Martin oversees the Project Teen board, which consists of five board members. Two board members are students at Allendale's Brookdale High School; the other three are adults with backgrounds in education and the arts.

The creative journaling class will be cosponsored by Brookdale High School, and students who complete the class will be given the opportunity to publish one of their journal entries in Pulse, Brookdale's student literary magazine. Students who complete the hip-hop class will be eligible to participate in the Allendale Review, an annual concert sponsored by the cultural centre that features local actors, musicians, and dancers.

All classes are scheduled to begin immediately following school dismissal, and transportation will be available from Brookdale High School to the Allendale Cultural Centre and the Allendale Public Library. For more information about Project Teen, contact the cultural centre's programming office at 988-0099 or drop by the office after June 1 to pick up a fall course catalogue. The office is located on the third floor of the Allendale Town Hall.

26. The Creative Journaling for Teens class will be co-sponsored by

A. The Allendale Public Library
B. The McGee Arts Foundation
C. Brookdale High School
D. Betsy Milford

27. The writing in this article is

A. Emotionally charged
B. Literary
C. Opinionated
D. Non-fiction

28. According to Leah Martin, what was the direct cause of Project Teen?

A. Tricia Cousins, the talented choreographer and dance educator, was available to teach courses in the fall
B. Community organizations were ignoring local teenagers
C. The McGee Arts Foundation wanted to be more involved in Allendale's arts programming
D. She wanted to make the cultural centre a more important part of the Allendale community

29. Which of the following factors is implied as another reason for Project Teen?

A. The number of people who have visited the cultural centre has declined over the last several years.
B. The cultural centre wanted a grant from The McGee Arts Foundation.
C. The young people of Allendale have complained about the cultural centre's offerings.
D. Leah Martin thinks classes for teenagers are more important than classes for adults.

30. From the context of the passage, it can be determined that the word munificent most nearly means

A. Complicated
B. Generous
C. Curious
D. Unusual

|SET A|

Printed Page: 8 University Roll No:

Mid-Term Exam-2018 (B.TECH II yr)/MCA I & MCAII Year)

Ethics & Values: BELH-0006/AHE-3001

Time: 1 Hour Max. Marks: 15

Note: There are Four passages in this paper. Read the passages carefully and answer the given questions. Each question is followed by multiple statements numbered 1,2,3,4. Please note that there is only ONE CORRECT ANSWER (one among a, b, c, d) Choose the most appropriate one. Please don't forget to mark the SET No. on your OMR Sheet.

Passage: 1 (10X.5=5)

The moral side of murder cannot be legally defended, however, morally it can be challenging from the viewpoint of utilitarianism. Sometimes what seems to be absolutely immoral becomes the only way to be moral. There comes a clash between the morality and the necessity. And, it raises a question: Can we exonerate someone from the guilty if someone has acted out of necessity? Queen Vs Dudley and Stephens is one of the most debated cases in the law schools, which had established an example, in the British common law, that necessity is not a defence for a charge of murder. The case is also popular as The Life Boat Case (1884). The English yacht Mignonette was to be transported to Australia with crew of four: Thomas Dudley, the captain; Edwin Stephens; Edmund Brooks; and Richard Parker, the cabin boy. Case is very much clear to you that Dudley and Stephenson went for trail, while Brooke turned to a witness. Now, judge has to decide whether the killing and cannibalism done by the three on life-boat for saving their lives was justified. Stephenson argued that they have done wrong but it was the only way out and was an unavoidable necessary action. He reasoned that necessity was to save the three lives so he killed Parker. Judge: why did you kill parker? Dudley: Parker was orphan and was ill. We other members have family. We thought if Parker would die nobody would have sorrow but any one of us would die then his family would be in a great pain. One had to die in this scenario and with this necessity parker was the right candidate to be killed. Judge came with the point that after four days you guys got rescued and you could have survived for four days without killing Parker then in this possibility killing Parker neither proved necessity not the utility. And, if you had no idea when you will get rescue then killing Parker does not make any sense as there is no guarantee that after subsisting on Parker you will not have to kill another. Killing Richard Parker makes a sense of necessity when there is certainty that the rescue will come and for that time you cannot survive without killing Parker. It was the argument from necessity that makes clear that necessity cannot be sought in the view of uncertainty. Stephenson got disproved on the ground of necessity moved to another argument called argument from intention that we did not want to kill Richard Parker. We wanted to save three lives. Judge asked a question to Stephenson; was it you will-full action? Stephenson replied no then judge said why did you kill then Parker? You could have killed anyone or could have sacrificed your own life for saving the other three. Stephenson was willing the action as he minded first his interest in saving his own life, The arguments presented by the Dudley and Stephenson based on maximum life saving, survival, necessity and life defence did not suffice them to excuse from the charges of murder and cannibalism. The jury decided the sentence to death for both Dudley & Stephenson but that later changed by the interference of the crown into imprisonment. However the case offers a thrilling moral debate on the point whether necessity outweigh the morality. But in this case it was disproved. And, proved a murder is murder and it cannot be right even looked by the glaring glasses of morality. However, the necessity disapproved in the case can be further debated if we add some facts like moral agency, consent and the sacrifice. Once these facts are added in the case it seems that it improves the case of necessity by upgrading the moral degrees to a certain extent. However, one thing is obvious that killing Richard Parker in such a manner Dudley and Stephenson did not respect the sense of morality as they did not respect the agency of Parker and killed him against his free will. Parker was not consented at all and it was not his choice. Indeed, if we add consent of Parker it includes in some ways the agency of Parker also. But, consent does not mean that they should have been convinced are informed Richard Parker in advance, that they are going to kill him. It is not only the consent in this case that matters but also the due process. The right process to take the consent of Richard parker would be the lottery option that actually did not occurred in this case, that Stephenson once proposed to all. Nevertheless, drawing lottery would be all right if they all would have agreed on it. The agreement could have included all members will. And, then the member whose name would have drawn out in favor of death would be considered as a matter of sacrifice to save maximum life. Thus, the sacrifice differs from murder as in sacrifice one gives one's life by one's own will for saving others and in murder one's life is taken by the other against one's will. Hence, adding lottery option to this case takes it to the proximity to the necessity and the death of any member to save other's lives proves sacrifice. But, some author would question such necessity even if it includes agency and consent: Can we draw lottery by putting someone's life in question? They are the theorists who are categorical in their views on the question of rights and wrongs. They strongly maintain that the value of life is not comparable (it is an end in itself) and cannot be sacrificed on maximum numbers. They advocate deontological view on morality. Morality for them is not the matter of just utility. They argue that life is valuable in itself. It does not increase or decrease by the numbers of people associated with it or not. For them Parker's life was equally important and not less than any ways even if you compare with the three or you add the lives of their family members too. For such theorists morality does not depend on the consequences. They locate the morality in the nature of an action. The moral worth of an action according to them lies in the very nature of an action. Hence, they would condemn the case of cannibalism as done out of necessity and would say there cannot be any such necessity beyond the morality. For them the case shows implicit immorality as it compares the value of life with external factors. Necessity means only in a moral framework and it means it has to be moral necessity and not the ordinary necessity.

Questions:

1) Which of the following arguments were offered by Dudley & Stephenson in his defence?

1. The argument from maximum lives saving.
2. The argument from uncertainty.

3. The argument from necessity.
4. The argument from sacrifice.

a. 1, 2 & 3 b. 1& 3 c. Only 1 d. Only 4

2) Necessity lies in morality. What does it mean?

1. Morality within the necessity.
2. It is moral necessity.
3. Necessity beyond the morality.
4. Necessity within the framework of morality.

a. 1 & 2 b. 1& 4 c. 1,2& 3 d. 2&4

3) Scarifies seems a moral choice because:

1. Sacrifice is done for saving one's own life.
2. Sacrifice is done to save other's life.
3. Sacrifice is done with own choice.
4. Sacrifice is self motivated.

a. 1& 4 b. 2, 3&4 c. Only 3 d. Only 2

4) Consent, Counselling & sacrifice are not justified in the case because :

1. Life has its own worth.
2. Life is end in itself.
3. We can compare the life with maximum numbers.
4. None of These.

a. Only 1 b 1,2& 3 c. 1& 2 d. None of these

5) Argument from necessity failed on the reasons:

1.Dudley and Stephenson were not sure about rescue.
2.Dudley and Stephenson had exact idea about the rescue.
3.Stephenson killed Parker in the view of surety.
4.Necessity cannot be proved in the view of uncertainty.

a. 1& 2 b. 2&3 c. 3&4 d. 1&4

6) What are the hypothetical moral arguments?

1.Argument from necessity.
2.Argument from Sacrifice.
3.Argument from consent & Counselling.
4. All above.

a.4, b. only 3 c. 1. d.2&3

7) Dudley & Stephenson failed in their defence:

1.Because argument from maximum lives saving failed.
2.There was uncertainty regarding the rescue.
3.The argument from necessity qualified.
4.Argument from intention failed.

a.1, 2&3 b. 2&3 c. 1,2&4 d. 3&4

8) The lottery option was a better option though it was not right:

1.Because it would have been followed by the agreement of everyone.
2.It would have involved everyone's agency.
3.It would have proved Parker's killing right.
4.All above.

A

a. 1,2&4 b.1&2 c. 2&3 d. 3&4

9) For some theorists even if the necessity includes the consent and agency it would not be alright as life issues cannot be decided by lottery. What can we infer about these theorists?

1. They advocate utilitarian view of morality.
2. For them Parker's life was equally important as the life of others.
3. For them life is a matter of chance.
4. They condemn the view of necessity that goes beyond the morality.

a. 2&4 b.1, 1&4 c.1, 3& 4 d. 1& 3

10) What is true about the consent?

1. It is Free will of a person.
2. It involves agency of a person.
3. It involves others emotions.
4. It always involves my profits.

a. 2& 3 b. 1&2 c. 3& 4 d. 1 & 3

Passage 2 (4X.5=2)

Bentham, an English moral philosopher and legal reformer, founded the doctrine of utilitarianism. Its main idea is simply stated and intuitively appealing: The highest principle of morality is to maximize happiness, the overall balance of pleasure over pain. According to Bentham, the right thing to do is whatever will maximize utility. By "utility", he means whatever produces pleasure or happiness, and whatever prevents pain or suffering. For Bentham, pleasure is pleasure and pain is pain. The only basis for judging one experience better or worse than another is the intensity and duration of the pleasure or pain it produces. Bentham recognizes no qualitative distinction among pleasures. "The quantity of pleasure is equal", he writes, "push-pin is as good as poetry." The refusal to distinguish higher from lower pleasure is connected to Bentham's belief that all values can be measured and compared on a single scale. But some object to utilitarianism on precisely this point: they believe that some pleasures really are "higher" than others. If some pleasures are worthy and others base, they say, why should society weigh all preferences equally, much less regard the sum of such preferences as the greatest good?

11) What seems improper in Bentham's view:

1. Bentham recognizes no qualitative distinction among pleasures.
2. It maximizes utility.
3. It does not care about the preferences of pleasures and weigh all preferences equally.
4. None of these

a. 1&3 b. 1,2&3 c 4 d 2&3

12) Which of the following statements are incorrect to Utilitarianism:

1. We should maximize happiness of maximum number.
2. We should maximize the happiness of a person.
3. We should take care of the minority.
4. We can sacrifice the majority.

a. 1,2&3 b. 1&4 c. 2,3&4 d. 1,2,3&4

13) Intensity and duration are the standards to judge
1. Pleasures and Pains
2. Maximum utility
3. One experience better or worse than another
4. None of these.

a. 1&2 b. 4 c. 1,2&3 d. only 1

14) For Bentham only pleasure that matters because:
1. Pleasure is pleasure and pain is pain.
2. All values can be measured and compared on a single scale.
3. Some pleasures are higher than others.
4. Some pleasure are better than the other

a. 1&2 b.2&3 c. 3& 4 d. 1,3&4

Passage 3 (6X.5=3)

The human faculties of perception, judgment, discriminative feeling, mental activity, and even moral preference, are exercised only in making a choice. He who does anything because it is the custom makes no choice. He gains no practice either in discerning or in desiring what is best. The mental and moral, like the muscular powers, are improved only by being used. He who lets the world, or his own portion of it, choose his plan of life for him, has no need of any other faculty than the ape-like one of imitation. He who chooses his plan for himself employs all his faculties. Mill concedes that following convention may lead a person to a satisfying life path and keep him out of harm's way. "But what will be his comparative worth as a human being?" he asks. "It really is of importance, not only what men do, but also what manner of men they are that do it. So actions and consequences are not all that matter after all. Character also counts. For J. S.Mill, individuality matters less for the pleasure it brings than for the character it reflects. "One whose desires and impulses are not his own, has no character, no more than a steam engine has character. Mill put emphasis on liberty and higher order pleasures.

15) Conventions may guide us to the satisfying path of life but living life only by following conventions we lose;
1. Meaning of human life
2. Comparative worth as a human being
3. Self belief
4. We derive pleasure

a. 1,2&3 b. 2,3 & 4 c. 1& 4 d. 2& 4

16) What does involve a rational choice:
1. Moral preference
2. Judgment
3. Following the custom
4. All above

a. Only 4 b. 3&4 c. 1,2&3 d. 1&2

17) When author says "no more than a steam engine has character" what he means
1. Character means nothing if you are mechanical.
2. You are like a machine governed by the external laws.
3. Steam engine has character but does not make any sense.
4. Steam engine has his own character.

a 1& 4 b. 1,2& 3 c. only 4 d. 1,2,3& 4

18) He who does not follow customs.

1. Makes a moral choice
2. Makes a cultural choice
3. Makes no choice
4. He makes a difference.

a 1& 3 b. only 3 c. 1&4 d. 2& 3

19) Author uses the phrase "the ape like imitation" for persons:

1. The people who follows the custom.
2. Who do not choose.
3. Who do not use mental and moral capacities
4. None of these

a 1,2&3 b 4 c. 1& 4 d. only 1

20) Action and consequences are not all that matter. What Mill emphasises from this statement:

1. Individuality & Character
2. Higher Pleasure & Liberty
3. Only pleasure
4. only Character

a 3& 4 b. 1& 4 c. 2& 3 d. 1& 2

Passage: 4 (10X.5=5 Marks)

Euthanasia has been a morally debated issue. It states the following points. a) a person has been suffering from a terminal (incurable) disease; b) a person has been suffering from physical and psychological pains, c) The death of a person is quite predictable, and d) the person, undergoing through such pains, wants to die with the assistance of other. However, we have to understand an important point that euthanasia differs from that of suicide in a way that in the case of a suicide a person do not want to live, while in euthanasia a person wants to die. In other words, when a person commits suicide s/he does not want to live because of personal life issues and socio-psychological problems. But in euthanasia somebody does not find herself/ himself be capable of living the life. For instance somebody is suffering from a terminal physical disease and is on the life support system. However, there are three fundamental questions underlying the debate. First, do we have right to take assisted suicide? Second, is mercy killing justified? Third, is moral sanctioning of assisted suicide consistent with humanitarian spirit? Such questions are really tough to answer. There are two types of Euthanasia:1) Active, 2) Passive. In active euthanasia you demand assisted killing like a poisonous injection, while in passive case you only leave the life support systems or medicines and want to die usually like taking away the ventilator. Recent laws made by the India government only allow passive euthanasia. The Indian constitution rejects the assisted killing as mercy killing. However, we have three point of views to discuss this issue: 1) utilitarianism, 2) Libertarianism, and 3) Kantianism. A utilitarian would allow both active and passive if it is beneficial for more numbers and minimizes their pain. A Libertarian would allow the both cases on the point that one should have freedom to decide about one's life only that it does not harm another. Since we possess ourselves we have freedom to decide even on the question of deciding for assisted suicide. Libertarians would sanction euthanasia on the grounds that an individual has got complete rights on his/her own life. And, if one's decision does not harm the other then one is free to take any decision. However, Kantians unlike Libertarians would consider the euthanasia on the ground of rationality. Although like Libertarian Kantians advocate the rights of individuals and admit that we own ourselves and one must be given complete rights of decision making to oneself, Kantians maintain that one's decision making to oneself must be governed by reasons. Kantian morality is deontological in its nature. Hence, Kantians argue that the freedom should be rational and in case of euthanasia if we demand for assisted suicide or mercy killing then we actually treat life as a means. Therefore, Kantians would not sanction euthanasia because for them life is valuable in itself, an end in itself. But a passive case of euthanasia is difficult to deny even for the Kantians as it seems rational and involves freedom and can be universalize.

Questions:

21) Which of the following statements are correct about Euthanasia?
   1) It is about forced killing.
   2) It is suicide.
   3) In Euthanasia the death of a person is sure.
   4) It is mercy killing on one's will.

   a. 1& 2 b. 2& 3 c. 1, 2, 3&4 d. 3&4

22) A suicide is not euthanasia because:
   1) In suicide a person does not want to live, while in euthanasia a person wants to die.
   2) Euthanasia is suicide.
   3) In euthanasia a person wants to die due to terminal illness.
   4) In suicide a person suffers from mental and psychological pains.

   a. 1, 3 & 4 b. 1& 2 c. 1,2 & 3 d. only 1& 2

23) What are the debating questions on Euthanasia?
   1) Justification for mercy killing.
   2) No questions on euthanasia.
   3) Sanctioning of Euthanasia on moral grounds.
   4) Right to take assisted suicide.

   a. 1, 2 & 3 b. 1, 3 & 4 c. 2& 3 d. 2, 3 & 4

24) A libertarian would allow euthanasia on the grounds that:
   1) Everyone has complete right to one's own life.
   2) We have no freedom to life.
   3) We own ourselves.
   4) We are free to take assisted suicide.

   a. 1& 2 b. 2 & 3 c. 1, 3 & 4 d. only 2 & 3

25) Why a Kantian would criticize the euthanasia?
   1) Because it will not violate humanity principle.
   2) A Kantian would permit because we have right to our life.
   3) Because it will be treating life as a matter of happiness and pleasure.
   4) Because we have duty to live the life even in pain.

   a. 1,2 & 3 b. 3 & 4 c. 2, 3 & 4 d. 2& 3

26) A Kantian seems more valid than a Libertarian?
1) Because life is not valuable in itself.
2) Because Kantian argument is not grounded in rationality.
3) Because demand of assisted suicide or mercy killing treats life as a means to fulfill some other ends.
4) Because euthanasia is not consistent with humanitarian spirit.
a. 1, 3 & 4 b. 1& 2 c. 1& 4 d. 3& 4
27) What do you mean by the passive euthanasia?
1) Taking away the life support system.
2) Stop taking medicines.
3) Assisted suicide
4) Taking poisonous injection.
a. 1 & 2 b only 2 c. 3& 4 d. 1, 2, 3&4
28) Why does the passive case of Euthanasia seem challenging for a Kantian?
1) It involves maximum good.
2) It involves freedom
3) It involves rationality
4) It can be universalized.
a. 1 & 4 b. 2,3& 4 c. 1,2,3& 4 d. Only 1
29) Which of the following statements are not true about Indian laws on Euthanasia?
1). It differentiates between active and passive cases.
2) It allows active euthanasia.
3) It allows both active and passive cases.
4) It allows only passive euthanasia.
a. 1 & 3 b. 1,2 & 3 c. 2&3 d. 1& 4
30) A utilitarian would allow Euthanasia on the ground:
1) If it minimizes utility
2) If it minimizes the pain.
3) If it is beneficial for more numbers.
4) All above
a. only 4 b. 1& 2 c. 1& 4 d. 2& 3

[SET B]

Printed Page: 8. University Roll No:

Mid-Term Exam-2018 (B.TECH II yr)/MCA I & MCAII Year)

Ethics & Values: BELH-0006/AHE-3001

Time: 1 Hour Max. Marks: 15

Note: There are Four passages in this paper. Read the passages carefully and answer the given questions. Each question is followed by multiple statements numbered 1,2,3,4. Please note that there is only ONE CORRECT ANSWER (one among a, b, c, d) Choose the most appropriate one. Please don't forget to mark the SET No. on your OMR Sheet.

Passage: 1 (10X.5=5 Marks)

Euthanasia has been a morally debated issue. It states the following points: a) a person has been suffering from a terminal (incurable) disease; b) a person has been suffering from physical and psychological pains, c) The death of a person is quite predictable, and d) the person, undergoing through such pains, wants to die with the assistance of other. However, we have to understand an important point that euthanasia differs from that of suicide in a way that in the case of a suicide a person do not want to live, while in euthanasia a person wants to die. In other words, when a person commits suicide s/he does not want to live because of personal life issues and socio-psychological problems. But, in euthanasia somebody does not find herself/ himself be capable of living the life. For instance somebody is suffering from a terminal physical disease and is on the life support system. However, there are three fundamental questions underlying the debate. First, do we have right to take assisted suicide? Second, is mercy killing justified? Third, is moral sanctioning of assisted suicide consistent with humanitarian spirit? Such questions are really tough to answer. There are two types of Euthanasia:1) Active, 2) Passive. In active euthanasia you demand assisted killing like a poisonous injection, while in passive case you only leave the life support systems or medicines and want to die usually like taking away the ventilator. Recent laws made by the India government only allow passive euthanasia. The Indian constitution rejects the assisted killing as mercy killing. However, we have three point of views to discuss this issue: 1) utilitarianism, 2) Libertarianism, and 3) Kantianism. A utilitarian would allow both active and passive if it is beneficial for more numbers and minimizes their pain. A Libertarian would allow the both cases on the point that one should have freedom to decide about one's life only that it does not harm another. Since we possess ourselves we have freedom to decide even on the question of deciding for assisted suicide. Libertarians would sanction euthanasia on the grounds that an individual has got complete rights on his/her own life. And, if one's decision does not harm the other then one is free to take any decision. However, Kantians unlike Libertarians would consider the euthanasia on the ground of rationality. Although like Libertarian Kantians advocate the rights of individuals and admit that we own ourselves and one must be given complete rights of decision making to oneself, Kantians maintain that one's decision making to oneself must be governed by reasons. Kantian morality is deontological in its nature. Hence, Kantians argue that the freedom should be rational and in case of euthanasia if we demand for assisted suicide or mercy killing then we actually treat life as a means. Therefore,

Kantians would not sanction euthanasia because for them life is valuable in itself; an end in itself. But a passive case of euthanasia is difficult to deny even for the Kantians as it seems rational and involves freedom and can be universalize.

Questions:

1) Which of the following statements are correct about Euthanasia?
   1) It is about forced killing.
   2) It is suicide.
   3) In Euthanasia the death of a person is sure.
   4) It is mercy killing on one's will.

   a. 1& 2 b. 2& 3 c. 1, 2, 3&4 d. 3&4

2) A suicide is not euthanasia because:
   1) In suicide a person does not want to live, while in euthanasia a person wants to die.
   2) Euthanasia is suicide.
   3) In euthanasia a person wants to die due to terminal illness.
   4) In suicide a person suffers from mental and psychological pains.

   a. 1, 3 & 4 b. 1& 2 c. 1,2 & 3 d. only 1& 2

3) What are the debating questions on Euthanasia?
   1) Justification for mercy killing.
   2) No questions on euthanasia.
   3) Sanctioning of Euthanasia on moral grounds.
   4) Right to take assisted suicide.

   a. 1, 2 & 3 b. 1, 3 & 4 c. 2& 3 d. 2, 3 & 4

4) A libertarian would allow euthanasia on the grounds that:
   1) Everyone has complete right to one's own life.
   2) We have no freedom to life.
   3) We own ourselves.
   4) We are free to take assisted suicide.

   a. 1& 2 b. 2 & 3 c. 1, 3 & 4 d. only 2 & 3

5) Why a Kantian would criticize the euthanasia?
   1) Because it will not violate humanity principle.
   2) A Kantian would permit because we have right to our life.
   3) Because it will be treating life as a matter of happiness and pleasure.
   4) Because we have duty to live the life even in pain.

   a. 1,2 & 3 b. 3 & 4 c. 2, 3 & 4 d. 2& 3

6) A Kantian seems more valid than a Libertarian?
   1) Because life is not valuable in itself.
   2) Because Kantian argument is not grounded in rationality.
   3) Because demand of assisted suicide or mercy killing treats life as a means to fulfill some other ends.
   4) Because euthanasia is not consistent with humanitarian spirit.

   a. 1, 3 & 4 b. 1& 2 c. 1& 4 d. 3& 4

7) What do you mean by the passive euthanasia?
   1) Taking away the life support system.

2) Stop taking medicines.
3) Assisted suicide
4) Taking poisonous injection.

a. 1& 2 b only 2 c. 3& 4 d. 1, 2, 3&4

8) Why does the passive case of Euthanasia seem challenging for a Kantian?
1) It involves maximum good.
2) It involves freedom
3) It involves rationality
4) It can be universalized.

a. 1& 4 b. 2,3& 4 c. 1,2,3& 4 d. Only 1

9) Which of the following statements are not true about Indian laws on Euthanasia?
1). It differentiates between active and passive cases.
2) It allows active euthanasia.
3) it allows both active and passive cases.
4) It allows only passive euthanasia.

a. 1& 3 b. 1,2 & 3 c. 2&3 d. 1& 4

10) A utilitarian would allow Euthanasia on the ground:
1) If it minimizes utility
2) If it minimizes the pain.
3) If it is beneficial for more numbers.
4) All above

a. only 4 b. 1& 2 c. 1& 4 d. 2& 3

Passage: 2 (10X.5=5)

The moral side of murder cannot be legally defended, however, morally it can be challenging from the viewpoint of utilitarianism. Sometimes what seems to be absolutely immoral becomes the only way to be moral. There comes a clash between the morality and the necessity. And, it raises a question: Can we exonerate someone from the guilty if someone has acted out of necessity? Queen Vs Dudley and Stephens is one of the most debated cases in the law schools, which had established an example, in the British common law, that necessity is not a defence for a charge of murder. The case is also popular as The Life Boat Case (1884). The English yacht Mignonette was to be transported to Australia with crew of four: Thomas Dudley, the captain; Edwin Stephens; Edmund Brooks; and Richard Parker, the cabin boy. Case is very much clear to you that Dudley and Stephenson went for trail, while Brooke turned to a witness. Now, judge has to decide whether the killing and cannibalism done by the three on life-boat for saving their lives was justified. Stephenson argued that they have done wrong but it was the only way out and was an unavoidable necessary action. He reasoned that necessity was to save the three lives so he killed Parker. Judge: why did you kill parker? Dudley: Parker was orphan and was ill. We other members have family. We thought if Parker would die nobody would have sorrow but any one of us would die then his family would be in a great pain. One had to die in this scenario and with this necessity parker was the right candidate to be killed. Judge came with the point that after four days you guys got rescued and you could have survived for four days without killing Parker then in this possibility killing Parker neither proved necessity not the utility. And, if you had no idea when you will get rescue then killing Parker does not make any sense as there is no guarantee that after subsisting on Parker you will not have to kill another. Killing Richard Parker makes a sense of necessity when there is certainty that the rescue will come and for that time you cannot survive without killing Parker. It was the argument from necessity that makes clear that necessity cannot be sought in the view of uncertainty. Stephenson got disproved on the ground of necessity moved to another argument called argument from intention that we did not want to kill Richard Parker. We wanted to save three lives. Judge asked a question to Stephenson; was it you will-full action? Stephenson replied no then judge said why did you kill then Parker? You could have killed anyone or could have sacrificed your own life for saving the other three. Stephenson was willing the action as he minded first his interest in saving his own life. The arguments presented by the Dudley and Stephenson based on maximum life saving, survival, necessity and life defence did not suffice them to excuse from the charges of murder and cannibalism. The jury decided the sentence to death for both Dudley & Stephenson but that later changed by the interference of the crown into imprisonment. However the case offers a thrilling moral debate on the point whether necessity outweigh the morality. But in this case it was disproved. And, proved a murder is murder and it cannot be right even looked by the glaring glasses of morality. However, the necessity disapproved in the case can be further debated if we add some facts like moral agency, consent and the sacrifice. Once these facts are added in the case it seems that it improves the case of necessity by upgrading the moral degrees to a certain extent. However, one thing is obvious that killing Richard Parker in such a manner Dudley and Stephenson did not respect the sense of morality as they did not respect the agency of Parker and killed him against his free will. Parker was not consented at all and it was not his choice. Indeed, if we add consent of Parker it includes in some ways the agency of Parker also. But, consent does not mean that they should have been convinced are informed Richard Parker in advance, that they are going to kill him. It is not only the consent in this case that matters but also the due process. The right process to take the consent of Richard parker would be the lottery option that actually did not occurred in this case, that Stephenson once proposed to all. Nevertheless, drawing lottery would be all right if they all would have agreed on it. The agreement could have included all members will. And, then the member whose name would have drawn out in favor of death would be considered as a matter of sacrifice to save maximum life. Thus, the sacrifice differs from murder as in sacrifice one gives one's life by one's own will for saving others and in murder one's life is taken by the other against one's will. Hence, adding lottery option to this case takes it to the proximity to the necessity and the death of any member to save other's lives proves sacrifice. But, some author would question such necessity even if it includes agency and consent; Can we draw lottery by putting someone's life in question? They are the theorists who are categorical in their views on the question of rights and wrongs. They strongly maintain that the value of life is not comparable (it is an end in itself) and cannot be sacrificed on maximum numbers. They advocate deontological view on morality. Morality for them is not the matter of just utility. They argue that life is valuable in itself. It does not increase or decrease by the numbers of people associated with it or not. For them Parker's life was equally important and not less than any ways even if you compare with the three or you add the lives of their family members too. For such theorists morality does not depend on the consequences. They locate the morality in the nature of an action. The moral worth of an action according to them lies in the very nature of an action. Hence, they would condemn the case of cannibalism as done out of necessity and would say there cannot be any such necessity beyond the morality. For them the case shows implicit immorality as it compares the value of life with external factors. Necessity means only in a moral framework and it means it has to be moral necessity and not the ordinary necessity.

B

Questions:

11) Which of the following arguments were offered by Dudley & Stephenson in his defence?

1. The argument from maximum lives saving.
2. The argument from uncertainty.
3. The argument from necessity.
4. The argument from sacrifice.

a. 1, 2 & 3 b. 1& 3 c. Only 1 d. Only 4

12) Necessity lies in morality. What does it mean?

1. Morality within the necessity.
2. It is moral necessity.
3. Necessity beyond the morality.
4. Necessity within the framework of morality.

a. 1 & 2 b. 1& 4 c. 1,2& 3 d. 2&4

13) Scarifies seems a moral choice because:

1. Sacrifice is done for saving one's own life.
2. Sacrifice is done to save other's life.
3. Sacrifice is done with own choice.
4. Sacrifice is self motivated.

a. 1& 4 b. 2, 3&4 c. Only 3 d. Only 2

14) Consent, Counselling & sacrifice are not justified in the case because :

1. Life has its own worth.
2. Life is end in itself.
3. We can compare the life with maximum numbers.
4. None of These.

a. Only 1 b 1,2& 3 c. 1& 2 d. None of these

15) Argument from necessity failed on the reasons:

1. Dudley and Stephenson were not sure about rescue.
2. Dudley and Stephenson had exact idea about the rescue.
3. Stephenson killed Parker in the view of surety.
4. Necessity cannot be proved in the view of uncertainty.

a. 1& 2 b. 2&3 c. 3&4 d. 1&4

16) What are the hypothetical moral arguments?

1. Argument from necessity.
2. Argument from Sacrifice.
3. Argument from consent & Counselling.
4. All above.

a.4, b. only 3 c. 1. d.2&3

17) Dudley & Stephenson failed in their defence:

1. Because argument from maximum lives saving failed.
2. There was uncertainty regarding the rescue.
3. The argument from necessity qualified.
4. Argument from intention failed.

a. 1, 2&3 b. 2&3 c. 1,2&4 d. 3&4

18) The lottery option was a better option though it was not right:

1. Because it would have been followed by the agreement of everyone.
2. It would have involved everyone's agency.
3. It would have proved Parker's killing right.
4. All above.

a. 1,2&4 b.1&2 c. 2&3 d. 3&4

19) For some theorists even if the necessity includes the consent and agency it would not be alright as life issues cannot be decided by lottery. What can we infer about these theorists?

1. They advocate utilitarian view of morality.
2. For them Parker's life was equally important as the life of others.
3. For them life is a matter of chance.
4. They condemn the view of necessity that goes beyond the morality.

a. 2&4 b. 1, 1&4 c.1, 3& 4 d. 1& 3

20) What is true about the consent?

1. It is Free will of a person.
2. It involves agency of a person.
3. It involves others emotions.
4. It always involves my profits.

a. 2& 3 b. 1&2 c. 3& 4 d. 1 & 3

Passage 3 (4X.5=2)

Bentham, an English moral philosopher and legal reformer, founded the doctrine of utilitarianism. Its main idea is simply stated and intuitively appealing: The highest principle of morality is to maximize happiness, the overall balance of pleasure over pain. According to Bentham, the right thing to do is whatever will maximize utility. By "utility", he means whatever produces pleasure or happiness, and whatever prevents pain or suffering. For Bentham, pleasure is pleasure and pain is pain. The only basis for judging one experience better or worse than another is the intensity and duration of the pleasure or pain it produces. Bentham recognizes no qualitative distinction among pleasures. "The quantity of pleasure is equal", he writes, "push-pin is as good as poetry." The refusal to distinguish higher from lower pleasure is connected to Bentham's belief that all values can be measured and compared on a single scale. But some object to utilitarianism on precisely this point: they believe that some pleasures really are "higher" than others. If some pleasures are worthy and others base, they say, why should society weigh all preferences equally, much less regard the sum of such preferences as the greatest good?

21) What seems improper in Bentham's view:

1. Bentham recognizes no qualitative distinction among pleasures.
2. It maximizes utility.

3. It does not care about the preferences of pleasures and weigh all preferences equally.
4. None of these

a. 1&3 b. 1,2&3 c 4 d 2&3

22) Which of the following statements are incorrect to Utilitarianism:

1. We should maximize happiness of maximum number.
2. We should maximize the happiness of a person.
3. We should take care of the minority.
4. We can sacrifice the majority.

a. 1,2&3 b. 1&4 c. 2,3&4 d. 1,2,3&4

23) Intensity and duration are the standards to judge

1. Pleasures and Pains
2. Maximum utility
3. One experience better or worse than another
4. None of these.

a. 1&2 b. 4 c. 1,2&3 d. only 1

24) For Bentham only pleasure that matters because:

1. Pleasure is pleasure and pain is pain.
2. All values can be measured and compared on a single scale.
3. Some pleasures are higher than others.
4. Some pleasure are better than the other

a. 1&2 b.2&3 c. 3& 4 d. 1,3&4

Passage 4 (6X.5=3)

The human faculties of perception, judgment, discriminative feeling, mental activity, and even moral preference, are exercised only in making a choice. He who does anything because it is the custom makes no choice. He gains no practice either in discerning or in desiring what is best. The mental and moral, like the muscular powers, are improved only by being used. He who lets the world, or his own portion of it, choose his plan of life for him, has no need of any other faculty than the ape-like one of imitation. He who chooses his plan for himself employs all his faculties. Mill concedes that following convention may lead a person to a satisfying life path and keep him out of harm's way. "But what will be his comparative worth as a human being?" he asks. "It really is of importance, not only what men do, but also what manner of men they are that do it. So actions and consequences are not all that matter after all. Character also counts. For J. S.Mill, individuality matters less for the pleasure it brings than for the character it reflects. "One whose desires and impulses are not his own, has no character, no more than a steam engine has character. Mill put emphasis on liberty and higher order pleasures.

25) Conventions may guide us to the satisfying path of life but living life only by following conventions we lose;

1. Meaning of human life
2. Comparative worth as a human being
3. Self belief
4. We derive pleasure

a. 1,2&3 b. 2,3 & 4 c. 1& 4 d. 2& 4

B

26) What does involve a rational choice:

1. Moral preference
2. Judgment
3. Following the custom
4. All above

a. Only 4 b. 3&4 c. 1,2&3 d. 1&2

27) When author says "no more than a steam engine has character" what he means:

1. Character means nothing if you are mechanical.
2. You are like a machine governed by the external laws.
3. Steam engine has character but does not make any sense.
4. Steam engine has his own character.

a. 1& 4 b. 1,2& 3 c. only 4 d. 1,2,3& 4

28) He who does not follow customs;

1. Makes a moral choice
2. Makes a cultural choice
3. Makes no choice
4. He makes a difference.

a. 1& 3 b. only 3 c. 1&4 d. 2& 3

29) Author uses the phrase "the ape like imitation" for persons:

1. The people who follows the custom.
2. Who do not choose.
3. Who do not use mental and moral capacities
4. None of these

a. 1,2&3 b 4 c. 1& 4 d. only 1

30) Action and consequences are not all that matter. What Mill emphasises from this statement:

1. Individuality & Character
2. Higher Pleasure & Liberty
3. Only pleasure
4. only Character

a. 3& 4 b. 1& 4 c. 2& 3 d. 1& 2

[SET C]

Printed Page: 8 University Roll No:

Mid-Term Exam-2018 (B.TECH II yr)/MCA I & MCAII Year)

Ethics & Values: BELH-0006/AHE-3001

Time: 1 Hour Max. Marks: 15

Note: There are Four passages in this paper. Read the passages carefully and answer the given questions. Each question is followed by multiple statements numbered 1,2,3,4. Please note that there is only ONE CORRECT ANSWER (one among a, b, c, d) Choose the most appropriate one. Please don't forget to mark the SET No. on your OMR Sheet.

Passage: I (10X.5=5)

The moral side of murder cannot be legally defended, however, morally it can be challenging from the viewpoint of utilitarianism. Sometimes what seems to be absolutely immoral becomes the only way to be moral. There comes a clash between the morality and the necessity. And, it raises a question: Can we exonerate someone from the guilty if someone has acted out of necessity? Queen Vs Dudley and Stephens is one of the most debated cases in the law schools, which had established an example, in the British common law, that necessity is not a defence for a charge of murder. The case is also popular as The Life Boat Case (1884). The English yacht Mignonette was to be transported to Australia with crew of four: Thomas Dudley, the captain; Edwin Stephens; Edmund Brooks; and Richard Parker, the cabin boy. Case is very much clear to you that Dudley and Stephenson went for trail, while Brooke turned to a witness. Now, judge has to decide whether the killing and cannibalism done by the three on life-boat for saving their lives was justified. Stephenson argued that they have done wrong but it was the only way out and was an unavoidable necessary action. He reasoned that necessity was to save the three lives so he killed Parker. Judge: why did you kill parker? Dudley: Parker was orphan and was ill. We other members have family. We thought if Parker would die nobody would have sorrow but any one of us would die then his family would be in a great pain. One had to die in this scenario and with this necessity parker was the right candidate to be killed. Judge came with the point that after four days you guys got rescued and you could have survived for four days without killing Parker then in this possibility killing Parker neither proved necessity not the utility. And, if you had no idea when you will get rescue then killing Parker does not make any sense as there is no guarantee that after subsisting on Parker you will not have to kill another. Killing Richard Parker makes a sense of necessity when there is certainty that the rescue will come and for that time you cannot survive without killing Parker. It was the argument from necessity that makes clear that necessity cannot be sought in the view of uncertainty. Stephenson got disproved on the ground of necessity moved to another argument called argument from intention that we did not want to kill Richard Parker. We wanted to save three lives. Judge asked a question to Stephenson; was it you will-full action? Stephenson replied no then judge said why did you kill then Parker? You could have killed anyone or could have sacrificed your own life for saving the other three. Stephenson was willing the action as he minded first his interest in saving his own life. The arguments presented by the Dudley and Stephenson based on maximum life saving, survival, necessity and life defence did not suffice them to excuse from the charges of murder and cannibalism. The jury decided the sentence to death for both Dudley & Stephenson but that later changed by the interference of the crown into imprisonment. However the case offers a thrilling moral debate on the point whether necessity outweigh the morality. But in this case it was disproved. And, proved a murder is murder and it cannot be right even looked by the glaring glasses of morality. However, the necessity disapproved in the case can be further debated if we add some facts like moral agency, consent and the sacrifice. Once these facts are added in the case it seems that it improves the case of necessity by upgrading the moral degrees to a certain extent. However, one thing is obvious that killing Richard Parker in such a manner Dudley and Stephenson did not respect the sense of morality as they did not respect the agency of Parker and killed him against his free will. Parker was not consented at all and it was not his choice. Indeed, if we add consent of Parker it includes in some ways the agency of Parker also. But, consent does not mean that they should have been convinced are informed Richard Parker in advance. that they are going to kill him. It is not only the consent in this case that matters but also the due process. The right process to take the consent of Richard parker would be the lottery option that actually did not occurred in this case, that Stephenson once proposed to all. Nevertheless, drawing lottery would be all right if they all would have agreed on it. The agreement could have included all members will. And, then the member whose name would have drawn out in favor of death would be considered as a matter of sacrifice to save maximum life. Thus, the sacrifice differs from murder as in sacrifice one gives one's life by one's own will for saving others and in murder one's life is taken by the other against one's will. Hence, adding lottery option to this case takes it to the proximity to the necessity and the death of any member to save other's lives proves sacrifice. But, some author would question such necessity even if it includes agency and consent: Can we draw lottery by putting someone's life in question? They are the theorists who are categorical in their views on the question of rights and wrongs. They strongly maintain that the value of life is not comparable (it is an end in itself) and cannot be sacrificed on maximum numbers. They advocate deontological view on morality. Morality for them is not the matter of just utility. They argue that life is valuable in itself. It does not increase or decrease by the numbers of people associated with it or not. For them Parker's life was equally important and not less than any ways even if you compare with the three or you add the lives of their family members too. For such theorists morality does not depend on the consequences. They locate the morality in the nature of an action. The moral worth of an action according to them lies in the very nature of an action. Hence, they would condemn the case of cannibalism as done out of necessity and would say there cannot be any such necessity beyond the morality. For them the case shows implicit immorality as it compares the value of life with external factors. Necessity means only in a moral framework and it means it has to be moral necessity and not the ordinary necessity.

Questions:

1) Which of the following arguments were offered by Dudley & Stephenson in his defence?

1. The argument from maximum lives saving.
2. The argument from uncertainty.

3. The argument from necessity.
4. The argument from sacrifice.

a. 1, 2 & 3 b. 1& 3 c. Only 1 d. Only 4

2) Necessity lies in morality. What does it mean?

1. Morality within the necessity.
2. It is moral necessity.
3. Necessity beyond the morality.
4. Necessity within the framework of morality.

a. 1 & 2 b. 1& 4 c. 1,2& 3 d. 2&4

3) Scarifies seems a moral choice because:

1. Sacrifice is done for saving one's own life.
2. Sacrifice is done to save other's life.
3. Sacrifice is done with own choice.
4. Sacrifice is self motivated.

a. 1& 4 b. 2, 3&4 c. Only 3 d. Only 2

4) Consent, Counselling & sacrifice are not justified in the case because :

1. Life has its own worth.
2. Life is end in itself.
3. We can compare the life with maximum numbers.
4. None of These.

a. Only 1 b 1,2& 3 c. 1& 2 d. None of these

5) Argument from necessity failed on the reasons:

1.Dudley and Stephenson were not sure about rescue.
2.Dudley and Stephenson had exact idea about the rescue.
3.Stephenson killed Parker in the view of surety.
4.Necessity cannot be proved in the view of uncertainty.

a. 1& 2 b. 2&3 c. 3&4 d. 1&4

6) What are the hypothetical moral arguments?

1.Argument from necessity.
2.Argument from Sacrifice.
3.Argument from consent & Counselling.
4. All above.

a.4, b. only 3 c. 1. d.2&3

7) Dudley & Stephenson failed in their defence:

1.Because argument from maximum lives saving failed.
2.There was uncertainty regarding the rescue.
3.The argument from necessity qualified.
4.Argument from intention failed.

a.1, 2&3 b. 2&3 c. 1,2&4 d. 3&4

8) The lottery option was a better option though it was not right:

1.Because it would have been followed by the agreement of everyone.
2.It would have involved everyone's agency.
3.It would have proved Parker's killing right.
4.All above.

C

a. 1,2&4 b.1&2 c. 2&3 d. 3&4

9) For some theorists even if the necessity includes the consent and agency it would not be alright as life issues cannot be decided by lottery. What can we infer about these theorists?

1. They advocate utilitarian view of morality.
2. For them Parker's life was equally important as the life of others.
3. For them life is a matter of chance.
4. They condemn the view of necessity that goes beyond the morality.

a. 2&4 b.1, 1&4 c.1, 3& 4 d. 1& 3

10) What is true about the consent?

1. It is Free will of a person.
2. It involves agency of a person.
3. It involves others emotions.
4. It always involves my profits.

a. 2& 3 b. 1&2 c. 3& 4 d. 1 & 3

Passage 2 (6X.5=3)

The human faculties of perception, judgment, discriminative feeling, mental activity, and even moral preference, are exercised only in making a choice. He who does anything because it is the custom makes no choice. He gains no practice either in discerning or in desiring what is best. The mental and moral, like the muscular powers, are improved only by being used. He who lets the world, or his own portion of it, choose his plan of life for him, has no need of any other faculty than the ape-like one of imitation. He who chooses his plan for himself employs all his faculties. Mill concedes that following convention may lead a person to a satisfying life path and keep him out of harm's way. "But what will be his comparative worth as a human being?" he asks. "It really is of importance, not only what men do, but also what manner of men they are that do it. So actions and consequences are not all that matter after all. Character also counts. For J. S.Mill, individuality matters less for the pleasure it brings than for the character it reflects. "One whose desires and impulses are not his own, has no character, no more than a steam engine has character. Mill put emphasis on liberty and higher order pleasures.

11) Conventions may guide us to the satisfying path of life but living life only by following conventions we lose;

1. Meaning of human life
2. Comparative worth as a human being
3. Self belief
4. We derive pleasure

a. 1,2&3 b. 2,3 & 4 c. 1& 4 d. 2& 4

12) What does involve a rational choice:

1. Moral preference
2. Judgment
3. Following the custom
4. All above

a. Only 4 b. 3&4 c. 1,2&3 d. 1&2

13) When author says "no more than a steam engine has character" what he means:

1. Character means nothing if you are mechanical.

2. You are like a machine governed by the external laws.
3. Steam engine has character but does not make any sense.
4. Steam engine has his own character.

a. 1& 4 b. 1,2& 3 c. only 4 d. 1,2,3& 4

14) He who does not follow customs:

1. Makes a moral choice
2. Makes a cultural choice
3. Makes no choice
4. He makes a difference.

a. 1& 3 b. only 3 c. 1&4 d. 2& 3

15) Author uses the phrase "the ape like imitation" for persons:

1. The people who follows the custom.
2. Who do not choose.
3. Who do not use mental and moral capacities
4. None of these

a. 1,2&3 b 4 c. 1& 4 d. only 1

16) Action and consequences are not all that matter. What Mill emphasises from this statement:

1. Individuality & Character
2. Higher Pleasure & Liberty
3. Only pleasure
4. only Character

a. 3& 4 b. 1& 4 c. 2& 3 d. 1& 2

Passage 3 (4X.5=2)

Bentham, an English moral philosopher and legal reformer, founded the doctrine of utilitarianism. Its main idea is simply stated and intuitively appealing: The highest principle of morality is to maximize happiness, the overall balance of pleasure over pain. According to Bentham, the right thing to do is whatever will maximize utility. By "utility", he means whatever produces pleasure or happiness, and whatever prevents pain or suffering. For Bentham, pleasure is pleasure and pain is pain. The only basis for judging one experience better or worse than another is the intensity and duration of the pleasure or pain it produces. Bentham recognizes no qualitative distinction among pleasures. "The quantity of pleasure is equal", he writes, "push-pin is as good as poetry." The refusal to distinguish higher from lower pleasure is connected to Bentham's belief that all values can be measured and compared on a single scale. But some object to utilitarianism on precisely this point: they believe that some pleasures really are "higher" than others. If some pleasures are worthy and others base, they say, why should society weigh all preferences equally, much less regard the sum of such preferences as the greatest good?

17) What seems improper in Bentham's view.

1. Bentham recognizes no qualitative distinction among pleasures.
2. It maximizes utility.
3. It does not care about the preferences of pleasures and weigh all preferences equally.
4. None of these

a. 1&3 b. 1,2&3 c 4 d 2&3

18) Which of the following statements are incorrect to Utilitarianism:

1. We should maximize happiness of maximum number.
2. We should maximize the happiness of a person.
3. We should take care of the minority.
4. We can sacrifice the majority.

a. 1,2&3 b. 1&4 c. 2,3&4 d. 1,2,3&4

19) Intensity and duration are the standards to judge

1. Pleasures and Pains
2. Maximum utility
3. One experience better or worse than another
4. None of these.

a. 1&2 b. 4 c. 1,2&3 d. only 1

20) For Bentham only pleasure that matters because:

1. Pleasure is pleasure and pain is pain.
2. All values can be measured and compared on a single scale.
3. Some pleasures are higher than others.
4. Some pleasure are better than the other

a. 1&2 b.2&3 c. 3& 4 d. 1,3&4

Passage: 4 (10X.5=5 Marks)

Euthanasia has been a morally debated issue. It states the following points: a) a person has been suffering from a terminal (incurable) disease; b) a person has been suffering from physical and psychological pains, c) The death of a person is quite predictable, and d) the person, undergoing through such pains, wants to die with the assistance of other. However, we have to understand an important point that euthanasia differs from that of suicide in a way that in the case of a suicide a person do not want to live, while in euthanasia a person wants to die. In other words, when a person commits suicide s/he does not want to live because of personal life issues and socio-psychological problems. But, in euthanasia somebody does not find herself/ himself be capable of living the life. For instance somebody is suffering from a terminal physical disease and is on the life support system. However, there are three fundamental questions underlying the debate. First, do we have right to take assisted suicide? Second, is mercy killing justified? Third, is moral sanctioning of assisted suicide consistent with humanitarian spirit? Such questions are really tough to answer. There are two types of Euthanasia:1) Active, 2) Passive. In active euthanasia you demand assisted killing like a poisonous injection, while in passive case you only leave the life support systems or medicines and want to die usually like taking away the ventilator. Recent laws made by the India government only allow passive euthanasia. The Indian constitution rejects the assisted killing as mercy killing. However, we have three point of views to discuss this issue: 1) utilitarianism, 2) Libertarianism, and 3) Kantianism. A utilitarian would allow both active and passive if it is beneficial for more numbers and minimizes their pain. A Libertarian would allow the both cases on the point that one should have freedom to decide about one's life only that it does not harm another. Since we possess ourselves we have freedom to decide even on the question of deciding for assisted suicide. Libertarians would sanction euthanasia on the grounds that an individual has got complete rights on his/her own life. And, if one's decision does not harm the other then one is free to take any decision. However, Kantians unlike Libertarians would consider the euthanasia on the ground of rationality. Although like Libertarian Kantians advocate the rights of individuals and admit that we own ourselves and one must be given complete rights of decision making to oneself, Kantians maintain that one's decision making to oneself must be governed by reasons. Kantian morality is deontological in its nature. Hence, Kantians argue that the freedom should be rational and in case of euthanasia if we demand for assisted suicide or mercy killing then we actually treat life as a means. Therefore, Kantians would not sanction euthanasia because for them life is valuable in itself, an end in itself. But a passive case of euthanasia is difficult to deny even for the Kantians as it seems rational and involves freedom and can be universalize.

Questions:

21) Which of the following statements are correct about Euthanasia?
   1) It is about forced killing
   2) It is suicide.
   3) In Euthanasia the death of a person is sure.
   4) It is mercy killing on one's will

   a. 1& 2 b. 2& 3 c. 1, 2, 3&4 d. 3&4

22) A suicide is not euthanasia because
   1) In suicide a person does not want to live, while in euthanasia a person wants to die
   2) Euthanasia is suicide.
   3) In euthanasia a person wants to die due to terminal illness.
   4) In suicide a person suffers from mental and psychological pains.

   a. 1, 3 & 4 b. 1& 2 c. 1,2 & 3 d. only 1& 2

23) What are the debating questions on Euthanasia?
   1) Justification for mercy killing.
   2) No questions on euthanasia.
   3) Sanctioning of Euthanasia on moral grounds
   4) Right to take assisted suicide.

   a. 1, 2 & 3 b. 1, 3 & 4 c. 2& 3 d. 2, 3 & 4

24) A libertarian would allow euthanasia on the grounds that:
   1) Everyone has complete right to one's own life
   2) We have no freedom to life.
   3) We own ourselves.
   4) We are free to take assisted suicide.

   a. 1& 2 b. 2 & 3 c. 1, 3 & 4 d. only 2 & 3

25) Why a Kantian would criticize the euthanasia?
   1) Because it will not violate humanity principle.
   2) A Kantian would permit because we have right to our life.
   3) Because it will be treating life as a matter of happiness and pleasure
   4) Because we have duty to live the life even in pain.

   a. 1,2 & 3 b. 3 & 4 c. 2, 3 & 4 d. 2& 3

26) A Kantian seems more valid than a Libertarian?
1) Because life is not valuable in itself.
2) Because Kantian argument is not grounded in rationality.
3) Because demand of assisted suicide or mercy killing treats life as a means to fulfill some other ends.
4) Because euthanasia is not consistent with humanitarian spirit.
a. 1, 3 & 4 b. 1& 2 c. 1& 4 d. 3& 4
27) What do you mean by the passive euthanasia?
1) Taking away the life support system
2) Stop taking medicines.
3) Assisted suicide
4) Taking poisonous injection.
a. 1& 2 b only 2 c. 3& 4 d. 1, 2, 3&4
28) Why does the passive case of Euthanasia seem challenging for a Kantian?
1) It involves maximum good
2) It involves freedom
3) It involves rationality
4) It can be universalized.
a. 1& 4 b. 2,3& 4 c. 1,2,3& 4 d. Only 1
29) Which of the following statements are not true about Indian laws on Euthanasia?
1) It differentiates between active and passive cases.
2) It allows active euthanasia.
3) It allows both active and passive cases.
4) It allows only passive euthanasia.
a. 1& 3 b. 1,2 & 3 c. 2&3 d. 1& 4
30) A utilitarian would allow Euthanasia on the ground:
1) If it minimizes utility
2) If it minimizes the pain.
3) If it is beneficial for more numbers.
4) All above
a. only 4 b. 1& 2 c. 1& 4 d. 2& 3

[SET D]

Printed Page: 8 University Roll No:

Mid-Term Exam-2018 (B.TECH II yr)/MCA I & MCAII Year)

Ethics & Values: BELH-0006/AHE-3001

Time: 1 Hour Max. Marks: 15

Note: There are Four passages in this paper Read the passages carefully and answer the given questions. Each question is followed by multiple statements numbered 1,2,3,4. Please note that there is only ONE CORRECT ANSWER (one among a, b, c, d) Choose the most appropriate one. Please don't forget to mark the SET No. on your OMR Sheet.

Passage: 1 (10X.5=5)

The moral side of murder cannot be legally defended, however, morally it can be challenging from the viewpoint of utilitarianism. Sometimes what seems to be absolutely immoral becomes the only way to be moral. There comes a clash between the morality and the necessity. And, it raises a question: Can we exonerate someone from the guilty if someone has acted out of necessity? Queen Vs Dudley and Stephens is one of the most debated cases in the law schools, which had established an example, in the British common law, that necessity is not a defence for a charge of murder. The case is also popular as The Life Boat Case (1884). The English yacht Mignonette was to be transported to Australia with crew of four: Thomas Dudley, the captain; Edwin Stephens; Edmund Brooks; and Richard Parker, the cabin boy. Case is very much clear to you that Dudley and Stephenson went for trail, while Brooke turned to a witness. Now, judge has to decide whether the killing and cannibalism done by the three on life-boat for saving their lives was justified. Stephenson argued that they have done wrong but it was the only way out and was an unavoidable necessary action. He reasoned that necessity was to save the three lives so he killed Parker. Judge. why did you kill parker? Dudley: Parker was orphan and was ill. We other members have family. We thought if Parker would die nobody would have sorrow but any one of us would die then his family would be in a great pain. One had to die in this scenario and with this necessity parker was the right candidate to be killed. Judge came with the point that after four days you guys got rescued and you could have survived for four days without killing Parker then in this possibility killing Parker neither proved necessity not the utility. And, if you had no idea when you will get rescue then killing Parker does not make any sense as there is no guarantee that after subsisting on Parker you will not have to kill another. Killing Richard Parker makes a sense of necessity when there is certainty that the rescue will come and for that time you cannot survive without killing Parker. It was the argument from necessity that makes clear that necessity cannot be sought in the view of uncertainty. Stephenson got disproved on the ground of necessity moved to another argument called argument from intention that we did not want to kill Richard Parker. We wanted to save three lives. Judge asked a question to Stephenson; was it you will-full action? Stephenson replied no then judge said why did you kill then Parker? You could have killed anyone or could have sacrificed your own life for saving the other three. Stephenson was willing the action as he minded first his interest in saving his own life. The arguments presented by the Dudley and Stephenson based on maximum life saving, survival, necessity and life defence did not suffice them to excuse from the charges of murder and cannibalism. The jury decided the sentence to death for both Dudley & Stephenson but that later changed by the interference of the crown into imprisonment. However the case offers a thrilling moral debate on the point whether necessity outweigh the morality. But in this case it was disproved. And, proved a murder is murder and it cannot be right even looked by the glaring glasses of morality. However, the necessity disapproved in the case can be further debated if we add some facts like moral agency, consent and the sacrifice. Once these facts are added in the case it seems that it improves the case of necessity by upgrading the moral degrees to a certain extent. However, one thing is obvious that killing Richard Parker in such a manner Dudley and Stephenson did not respect the sense of morality as they did not respect the agency of Parker and killed him against his free will. Parker was not consented at all and it was not his choice. Indeed, if we add consent of Parker it includes in some ways the agency of Parker also. But, consent does not mean that they should have been convinced are informed Richard Parker in advance, that they are going to kill him. It is not only the consent in this case that matters but also the due process. The right process to take the consent of Richard parker would be the lottery option that actually did not occurred in this case, that Stephenson once proposed to all. Nevertheless, drawing lottery would be all right if they all would have agreed on it. The agreement could have included all members will. And, then the member whose name would have drawn out in favor of death would be considered as a matter of sacrifice to save maximum life. Thus, the sacrifice differs from murder as in sacrifice one gives one's life by one's own will for saving others and in murder one's life is taken by the other against one's will. Hence, adding lottery option to this case takes it to the proximity to the necessity and the death of any member to save other's lives proves sacrifice. But, some author would question such necessity even if it includes agency and consent: Can we draw lottery by putting someone's life in question? They are the theorists who are categorical in their views on the question of rights and wrongs. They strongly maintain that the value of life is not comparable (it is an end in itself) and cannot be sacrificed on maximum numbers. They advocate deontological view on morality. Morality for them is not the matter of just utility. They argue that life is valuable in itself. It does not increase or decrease by the numbers of people associated with it or not. For them Parker's life was equally important and not less than any ways even if you compare with the three or you add the lives of their family members too. For such theorists morality does not depend on the consequences. They locate the morality in the nature of an action. The moral worth of an action according to them lies in the very nature of an action. Hence, they would condemn the case of cannibalism as done out of necessity and would say there cannot be any such necessity beyond the morality. For them the case shows implicit immorality as it compares the value of life with external factors. Necessity means only in a moral framework and it means it has to be moral necessity and not the ordinary necessity.

D

Questions:

1) Which of the following arguments were offered by Dudley & Stephenson in his defence?

1. The argument from maximum lives saving.
2. The argument from uncertainty.

3. The argument from necessity.
4. The argument from sacrifice.

a. 1, 2 & 3 b. 1& 3 c. Only 1 d. Only 4

2) Necessity lies in morality. What does it mean?

1. Morality within the necessity.
2. It is moral necessity.
3. Necessity beyond the morality.
4. Necessity within the framework of morality.

a. 1 & 2 b. 1& 4 c. 1,2& 3 d. 2&4

3) Scarifies seems a moral choice because:

1. Sacrifice is done for saving one's own life.
2. Sacrifice is done to save other's life.
3. Sacrifice is done with own choice.
4. Sacrifice is self motivated.

a. 1& 4 b. 2, 3&4 c. Only 3 d. Only 2

4) Consent, Counselling & sacrifice are not justified in the case because :

1. Life has its own worth.
2. Life is end in itself.
3. We can compare the life with maximum numbers.
4. None of These.

a. Only 1 b 1,2& 3 c. 1& 2 d. None of these

5) Argument from necessity failed on the reasons:

1.Dudley and Stephenson were not sure about rescue.
2.Dudley and Stephenson had exact idea about the rescue.
3.Stephenson killed Parker in the view of surety.
4.Necessity cannot be proved in the view of uncertainty.

a. 1& 2 b. 2&3 c. 3&4 d. 1&4

6) What are the hypothetical moral arguments?

1.Argument from necessity.
2.Argument from Sacrifice.
3.Argument from consent & Counselling.
4. All above.

a.4, b. only 3 c. 1. d.2&3

7) Dudley & Stephenson failed in their defence:

1.Because argument from maximum lives saving failed.
2.There was uncertainty regarding the rescue.
3.The argument from necessity qualified.
4.Argument from intention failed.

a.1, 2&3 b. 2&3 c. 1,2&4 d. 3&4

8) The lottery option was a better option though it was not right:

1.Because it would have been followed by the agreement of everyone.
2.It would have involved everyone's agency.
3.It would have proved Parker's killing right.
4.All above.

a. 1,2&4 b.1&2 c. 2&3 d. 3&4

9) For some theorists even if the necessity includes the consent and agency it would not be alright as life issues cannot be decided by lottery. What can we infer about these theorists?

1. They advocate utilitarian view of morality.
2. For them Parker's life was equally important as the life of others.
3. For them life is a matter of chance.
4. They condemn the view of necessity that goes beyond the morality.

a. 2&4 b.1, 1&4 c.1, 3& 4 d. 1& 3

10) What is true about the consent?

1. It is Free will of a person.
2. It involves agency of a person.
3. It involves others emotions.
4. It always involves my profits.

a. 2& 3 b. 1&2 c. 3& 4 d. 1 & 3

Passage 2 (6X.5=3)

The human faculties of perception, judgment, discriminative feeling, mental activity, and even moral preference, are exercised only in making a choice. He who does anything because it is the custom makes no choice. He gains no practice either in discerning or in desiring what is best. The mental and moral, like the muscular powers, are improved only by being used. He who lets the world, or his own portion of it, choose his plan of life for him, has no need of any other faculty than the ape-like one of imitation. He who chooses his plan for himself employs all his faculties. Mill concedes that following convention may lead a person to a satisfying life path and keep him out of harm's way. "But what will be his comparative worth as a human being?" he asks. "It really is of importance, not only what men do, but also what manner of men they are that do it. So actions and consequences are not all that matter after all. Character also counts. For J. S.Mill, individuality matters less for the pleasure it brings than for the character it reflects. "One whose desires and impulses are not his own, has no character, no more than a steam engine has character. Mill put emphasis on liberty and higher order pleasures.

11) Conventions may guide us to the satisfying path of life but living life only by following conventions we lose;

1. Meaning of human life
2. Comparative worth as a human being
3. Self belief
4. We derive pleasure

a. 1,2&3 b. 2,3 & 4 c. 1& 4 d. 2& 4

12) What does involve a rational choice:

1. Moral preference
2. Judgment
3. Following the custom
4. All above

a. Only 4 b. 3&4 c. 1,2&3 d. 1&2

13) When author says "no more than a steam engine has character" what he means:

1. Character means nothing if you are mechanical.

2. You are like a machine governed by the external laws.
3. Steam engine has character but does not make any sense.
4. Steam engine has his own character.

a. 1& 4 b. 1,2& 3 c. only 4 d. 1,2,3& 4

14) He who does not follow customs;

1. Makes a moral choice
2. Makes a cultural choice
3. Makes no choice
4. He makes a difference.

a. 1& 3 b. only 3 c. 1&4 d. 2& 3

15) Author uses the phrase "the ape like imitation" for persons:

1. The people who follows the custom.
2. Who do not choose.
3. Who do not use mental and moral capacities
4. None of these

a. 1,2&3 b 4 c. 1& 4 d. only 1

16) Action and consequences are not all that matter. What Mill emphasises from this statement:

1. Individuality & Character
2. Higher Pleasure & Liberty
3. Only pleasure
4. only Character

a. 3& 4 b. 1& 4 c. 2& 3 d. 1& 2

Passage: 3 (10X.5=5 Marks)

Euthanasia has been a morally debated issue. It states the following points: a) a person has been suffering from a terminal (incurable) disease; b) a person has been suffering from physical and psychological pains, c) The death of a person is quite predictable, and d) the person, undergoing through such pains, wants to die with the assistance of other. However, we have to understand an important point that euthanasia differs from that of suicide in a way that in the case of a suicide a person do not want to live, while in euthanasia a person wants to die. In other words, when a person commits suicide s/he does not want to live because of personal life issues and socio-psychological problems. But, in euthanasia somebody does not find herself/ himself be capable of living the life. For instance somebody is suffering from a terminal physical disease and is on the life support system. However, there are three fundamental questions underlying the debate. First, do we have right to take assisted suicide? Second, is mercy killing justified? Third, is moral sanctioning of assisted suicide consistent with humanitarian spirit? Such questions are really tough to answer. There are two types of Euthanasia:1) Active, 2) Passive. In active euthanasia you demand assisted killing like a poisonous injection, while in passive case you only leave the life support systems or medicines and want to die usually like taking away the ventilator. Recent laws made by the India government only allow passive euthanasia. The Indian constitution rejects the assisted killing as mercy killing. However, we have three point of views to discuss this issue: 1) utilitarianism, 2) Libertarianism, and 3) Kantianism. A utilitarian would allow both active and passive if it is beneficial for more numbers and minimizes their pain. A Libertarian would allow the both cases on the point that one should have freedom to decide about one's life only that it does not harm another. Since we possess ourselves we have freedom to decide even on the question of deciding for assisted suicide. Libertarians would sanction euthanasia on the grounds that an individual has got complete rights on his/her own life. And, if one's decision does not harm the other then one is free to take any decision. However, Kantians unlike Libertarians would consider the euthanasia on the ground of rationality. Although like Libertarian Kantians advocate the rights of individuals and admit that we own ourselves and one must be given complete rights of decision making to oneself, Kantians maintain that one's decision making to oneself must be governed by reasons. Kantian morality is deontological in its nature. Hence, Kantians argue that the freedom should be rational and in case of euthanasia if we demand for assisted suicide or mercy killing then we actually treat life as a means. Therefore, Kantians would not sanction euthanasia because for them life is valuable in itself; an end in itself. But a passive case of euthanasia is difficult to deny even for the Kantians as it seems rational and involves freedom and can be universalize.

Questions:

17) Which of the following statements are correct about Euthanasia?
   1) It is about forced killing.
   2) It is suicide.
   3) In Euthanasia the death of a person is sure.
   4) It is mercy killing on one's will.
   a. 1& 2 b. 2& 3 c. 1, 2, 3&4 d. 3&4

18) A suicide is not euthanasia because:
   1) In suicide a person does not want to live, while in euthanasia a person wants to die.
   2) Euthanasia is suicide.
   3) In euthanasia a person wants to die due to terminal illness.
   4) In suicide a person suffers from mental and psychological pains.
   a. 1, 3 & 4 b. 1 & 2 c. 1,2 & 3 d. only 1& 2

19) What are the debating questions on Euthanasia?
   1) Justification for mercy killing.
   2) No questions on euthanasia.
   3) Sanctioning of Euthanasia on moral grounds.
   4) Right to take assisted suicide.
   a. 1, 2 & 3 b. 1, 3 & 4 c. 2& 3 d. 2, 3 & 4

20) A libertarian would allow euthanasia on the grounds that:
   1) Everyone has complete right to one's own life.
   2) We have no freedom to life.
   3) We own ourselves.
   4) We are free to take assisted suicide.
   a. 1 & 2 b. 2 & 3 c. 1, 3 & 4 d. only 2 & 3

21) Why a Kantian would criticize the euthanasia?
   1) Because it will not violate humanity principle.
   2) A Kantian would permit because we have right to our life.
   3) Because it will be treating life as a matter of happiness and pleasure.
   4) Because we have duty to live the life even in pain.

a. 1,2 & 3 b. 3 & 4 c. 2, 3 & 4 d. 2& 3

22) A Kantian seems more valid than a Libertarian?
1) Because life is not valuable in itself.
2) Because Kantian argument is not grounded in rationality.
3) Because demand of assisted suicide or mercy killing treats life as a means to fulfill some other ends.
4) Because euthanasia is not consistent with humanitarian spirit.
a. 1, 3 & 4 b. 1& 2 c. 1& 4 d. 3& 4

23) What do you mean by the passive euthanasia?
1) Taking away the life support system.
2) Stop taking medicines.
3) Assisted suicide
4) Taking poisonous injection.
a. 1& 2 b only 2 c. 3& 4 d. 1, 2, 3&4

24) Why does the passive case of Euthanasia seem challenging for a Kantian?
1) It involves maximum good.
2) It involves freedom
3) It involves rationality
4) It can be universalized.
a. 1& 4 b. 2,3& 4 c. 1,2,3& 4 d. Only 1

25) Which of the following statements are not true about Indian laws on Euthanasia?
1). It differentiates between active and passive cases.
2) It allows active euthanasia.
3) it allows both active and passive cases.
4) It allows only passive euthanasia.
a. 1& 3 b. 1,2 & 3 c. 2&3 d. 1& 4

26) A utilitarian would allow Euthanasia on the ground:
1) If it minimizes utility
2) If it minimizes the pain.
3) If it is beneficial for more numbers.
4) All above
a. only 4 b. 1& 2 c. 1& 4 d. 2& 3

Passage 4 (4X.5=2)

Bentham, an English moral philosopher and legal reformer, founded the doctrine of utilitarianism. Its main idea is simply stated and intuitively appealing: The highest principle of morality is to maximize happiness, the overall balance of pleasure over pain. According to Bentham, the right thing to do is whatever will maximize utility. By "utility", he means whatever produces pleasure or happiness, and whatever prevents pain or suffering. For Bentham, pleasure is pleasure and pain is pain. The only basis for judging one experience better or worse than another is the intensity and duration of the pleasure or pain it produces. Bentham recognizes no qualitative distinction among pleasures. "The quantity of pleasure is equal", he writes, "push-pin is as good as poetry." The refusal to distinguish higher from lower pleasure is connected to Bentham's belief that all values can be measured and compared on a single scale. But some object to utilitarianism on precisely this point: they believe that some pleasures really are "higher" than others. If some pleasures are worthy and others base, they say, why should society weigh all preferences equally, much less regard the sum of such preferences as the greatest good?

27) What seems improper in Bentham's view:
1. Bentham recognizes no qualitative distinction among pleasures.
2. It maximizes utility.
3. It does not care about the preferences of pleasures and weigh all preferences equally
4. None of these

a. 1&3 b. 1,2&3 c 4 d 2&3

28) Which of the following statements are incorrect to Utilitarianism:
1. We should maximize happiness of maximum number.
2. We should maximize the happiness of a person.
3. We should take care of the minority.
4. We can sacrifice the majority.

a. 1,2&3 b. 1&4 c. 2,3&4 d. 1,2,3&4

29) Intensity and duration are the standards to judge
1. Pleasures and Pains
2. Maximum utility
3. One experience beter or worse than another
4. None of these.

a. 1&2 b. 4 c. 1,2&3 d. only 1

30) For Bentham only pleasure that matters because:
1. Pleasure is pleasure and pain is pain.
2. All values can be measured and compared on a single scale.
3. Some pleasures are higher than others.
4. Some pleasure are better than the other

a. 1&2 b.2&3 c. 3& 4 d. 1,3&4

Printed Pages: University Roll No.....

Second Mid-Term Examination, Odd Semester 2018-19

Programme:B.Tech Branch: CSE Year: II

Database Management System: BCSC0003

Time : 1 Hour Maximum Marks: 15

Section – A

3 x 2 = 6 Marks

I. Since indices speed query processing, why might they not be kept on several search keys? List a possible reason. Write the main difference between Dense and sparse indexing.

II. Use Armstrong's axioms to prove the soundness of the union and pseudotransitivity rule.

III. Compute the closure of the following set F of functional dependencies for relation schema R = (A, B, C, D, E).

$A \rightarrow BC, CD \rightarrow E, B \rightarrow D, E \rightarrow A$ List the candidate keys for R.

Section – B

3 x 3 = 9 Marks

I. The relation EMPDT1 is defined with attributes empcode (unique), name, street, city, state, and pincode. For any pincode, there is only one city and state. Also, for any given street, city and state, there is just one pincode. In normalization terms, determine the highest normal form followed by relation schema EMPDT1. Give reasons for your answer.

II. For the given relation R (ABCDEH) and set of functional dependencies, find out the minimal cover.

$$F = \{A \rightarrow BC, CD \rightarrow E, E \rightarrow C, D \rightarrow AEH, ABH \rightarrow BD, DH \rightarrow BC\}$$

III. Explain the following:

a. Join Dependency

b. Multivalued Dependency